

Vice President of the Seoul Chapter of KOTESOL

Name: James Tardif

Position: Vice-President

Education: BS English: Creative Writing, Frostburg State University, MD, USA

Bio:

Born outside of Augusta, GA, and raised outside of Baltimore, MD, James Tardif has worn many hats before moving to South Korea. Being a military contractor, bookstore manager, and Burger King night crew has given him a peculiar skill set. He moved to South Korea in May of 2011 and has not regretted a moment of it. He is currently employed as an English Language Instructor in an academy in Gimpo, specializing in TOEFL and Asian Parliamentary Debate.

Statement:

What drove me to KOTESOL was the notion of teachers helping teachers and I aim to continue this tradition. In the capacity of Vice-President, I will do what is asked of me by the President to achieve this goal. I just want to make things better in any way I can, big or small, and I want to help this chapter's members do the same. 화이팅
